SOCIAL EVENTS

Quite the most interesting event of the moment is the approaching marriage of Miss Ruth Ainsworth, daughter of Judge C. F. Ainsworth to Charles Strong Whitbeck, which will take place in San Francisco on Tuesday. The last notable event of the spring season was the luncheon at which Miss Ainsworth's engagement to the attorney was announced. Shortly afterwards she and her sister, Mrs. Robert A. Craig, left for the northern part of the state going later to California where they have been all summer. It will be a keen disappointment to society that the wedding is to take place on the coast and a still greater regret that the honeymoon is not to be passed here, but in Detroit where Mr. Whitbeck has large realty holdings. Miss Ainsworth is unquestionably one of the best liked girls in the smart set. She has an interesting personality being decidedly individual. Her cleverness and natural charm have always made her a sought after guest at all smart affairs. She will be greatly missed by local society for it is understood that the Whitbeck's plan to take up their residence in Pasadena. Mr. Whitbeck formerly lived in Phoenix and was immensely popular. He is attorney for the reclamation service.

Mrs. Earl Curtis will return Wednesday from the California coast.

Mrs. C. F. Ainsworth returned Sunday from Denver where she passed the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Orr, of 321 East Willetta street, entertained informally at luncheon yesterday in honor of Miss Marjorie Milnes of Prescott and Lyle Abbott, whose engagement was the most interesting announcement of the week.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Allee, Miss Eva Whitson, Miss Blanche Birdie, Miss Mary Flood, D. A. Little, Joe Halderman, R. E. Foote and Herman Lewkowitz.

Swimming parties and picnic suppers that were favorite spring events give promise of occupying a place of paramount importance on the autumn calendar. One of these affairs took place at Riverside Park Thursday evening, those enjoying the event were Mr. and Mrs. David Goldberg, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yaw, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eaton, Miss Ruth Goldberg, Miss Ethel McDermott, Miss Edith Norton, Miss Fernie Johnson, Miss Mary McDermott, A. J. Kisselberg, Eugene Goldman, Charles Pope, Harold Goldberg, Earl Galpin, Russell Peabody and Edna Lane.

It will be delightful news to their host of friends in Phoenix that Mrs. Boddington, of White Salmon, Washington, and Mrs. William Harrison Lewis, of San Francisco, are to pass the autumn with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dorris at their charming home, Casa De Rosas. They will arrive early in October and while Mrs. Lewis will be here only a few weeks there is a possibility of Mrs. Boddington remaining this winter. Mr. Boddington plans to be in Phoenix during the holiday season and if his business affairs can be so arranged he and Mrs. Boddington will remain until spring.

Foster H. Rockwell left Thursday evening for San Diego where he joined Mrs. Rockwell who summered on the coast with her mother, Mrs. J. C. Adams. They will return October 1.

Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Malley, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Asbury and Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson.

While the majority of those who summered at Iron Springs plan to keep their cottages open until the middle of the month, every day notes the arrival in town of one or more who preferred life at the Arizona mountain resort to the seashore. The David Goldbergs, the Francis H. Reddells, the James Griffins among others, opened their town houses last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wayland have returned from a pleasant outing at Oak Creek.

From there they will travel eastward, passing an indefinite period in Boston, New York and Chicago. Mrs. Kay has been away all summer, returning only within the past few days from the east.
